PREFACE.

THE Encouragement given to every Attempt wherein Utility to the Public is the Principal Object, induced the Compiler and Editor to imagine that the prevailing Taſte for making a Tour in this Iſland could not receive a more deſirable Aſſiſtant than that of a correct and particular as well as comprehenſive Itinerary: the Errors and Deficiencies in the Plans as well as in the Execution of the various Books of Roads hitherto publiſhed, encouraged them to introduce another to Public View, as one whoſe Uſefulneſs they flatter themſelves is obvious, and which they truſt will have ſome Claim to Public Patronage. In this Publication every Journey terminates at ſome Place of Importance or Note; (and not in detached Scraps of Roads, without ſhewing to what Part they, if purſued, would conduct the Traveller) and, at the ſame Time, the Columns on each Side point out where the Roads branching off from the Principal one lead to. In this Work no Place or Village worth Notice, on or near the Road, is omitted; nor are the Towns, Villages, Pariſh-Churches, or Seats, on either Side for a conſiderable Diſtance, unattended to. The Whole is conſtructed on the ſame Principle as Maps are delineated, ſo that the relative Situation of every Object is conſpicuous, and in order to render it more convenient and portable, it is printed on a ſmall Type and thin Paper.

The Idea of this TRAVELLER's COMPANION was firſt ſuggeſted and the Plan laid out by Mr. PRIDE (a Pupil of LA ROCQUE), who, in the Courſe of his Profeſſion as a Land Surveyor and Topographer, having, for near Forty Years paſt, occaſion to travel over many Parts of Great Britain, had Opportunities of obſerving and lamenting the Inaccuracies and Deficiencies in all the Books of Roads now extant, which cauſed him to wiſh for an Itinerary more comprehenſive and ſerviceable to Travellers. He afterwards proceeded to reduce his Ideas into Syſtem, and planned this Work in the Manner now ſubmitted to the Public; but as there were ſome Parts of the Iſland he had never viſited, and others where he had not travelled velled lately, the whole has by Mr. LUCKOMBE been attentively compared with the actual Surveys of the several Counties, and every other authentic Source of Information, the beſt that could be procured; the joint Reſult of which Labours is now offered to the Public with the Hope of proving both inſtructive and beneficial to the Community; and any Errors or Omiſſions that may have ariſen, or Improvement that can be made, will be ſedulouſly attended to in every future Edition, for which Purpoſe the Corrections or Hints of the Intelligent Traveller are requeſted to be left with the Publiſher.

The undermentioned are the Standards from whence the different Routes are computed, viz.

London Bridge for the Roads through Kent.
Hyde-Park Corner for the Brentford Road.
Shoreditch Church for thoſe through Ware.
Whitechapel Church for thoſe through Eſſex.
St. John's Street, Smithfield End, (Hick's Hall) for the Barnet Road.
Tyburn Turnpike for the Uxbridge and Edgeware Roads.
And Weſtminſter Bridge for thoſe through Croydon, Ryegate and Epſom.

And in order to enable the Traveller to judge with Certainty and Preciſion of the actual Diſtance of his Journey, the following Meaſurement to the different Standards from the Obeliſk in New Bridge Street, as the moſt central Spot, is here annexed:

	Miles.	Furlongs.
From the Obeliſk, New Bridge Street, to the Surry Side of London Bridge	1	—
To the Surry Side of Weſtminſter Bridge by Charing Croſs	1	7
To ditto, by St. George's Fields	1	6
To Hyde-Park Corner	2	4
To Tyburn Turnpike	2	4
To St. John's Street, Smithfield End, (late Hick's Hall)	0	4
To Shoreditch Church	1	7

The

THE TRAVELLER's COMPANION.

The first and last Columns contain the Roads that branch off from the direct Road, and the Names of the Gentlemens' Seats and Places on the Left or Right Hand of the Road opposite to where they are ranged in this Work.

The middle Column, by the Figures that precede the Names of the Places you pass through, shew their Distance from each other, and the Figures that follow shew their Distance from where the Road commenced.

Cities are printed in CAPITALS, Market Towns in Italics, and a * is annexed to the Post Office Stages of the Mail Coaches.

All the Direct Roads that branch from the Main Road, are placed following the Main Road; for the greater conveniency of those who pursue such Route, viz. the different Roads to Bath, or Bristol, are placed immediately after the General Road to those Towns.

☞ The Reader is requested to observe, that the Account of each Road commences at the Bottom of the Page, and is so arranged, that the Traveller may have a View of the Way somewhat similar to a Map.

DIRECTIONS when to pass over at AUST, (or the Old Passage*) and the* NEW PASSAGE between ENGLAND and WALES, mentioned in Page 5, 130 Miles from London, in ROAD 1.

OBSERVE, that the winds for passing are accounted but two sorts, viz. The winds that are southerly or westerly are called the winds below, and those northerly the winds above. When wind and tide go both one way, there is no passing, except at the going out of the tide at AUST, when, at three quarters ebb, you may pass: but when the wind is above, all passing must be on the flood, or coming in of the tide, and then you may have five hours good passing. When the wind is below, all passing must be on the ebb, or going out of the tide, and then you may have seven hours good passing. By finding the moon's age, you may, by the following table, know what hours to pass every day in the year:

For,

For example, if the moon be one or fixteen days old, (which is the day of the change or full) the wind above, you may paſs from two to ſeven; wind below, from ſeven to two.—If the moon be five or twenty days old, the wind above, you may paſs from twelve minutes after five till twelve minutes after ten; wind below, from twelve minutes after ten to twelve minutes after five.

N. B. It is computed, that the difference in paſſing at Auſt, and at the New Paſſage, varies but one hour, viz. when the tide is coming in, the wind above, then the New paſſes one hour before Auſt. Tide going out, wind below, then Auſt an hour before the New. So that, obſerving the difference, the ſame table ſerves for both paſſages.—The boats begin to paſs and repaſs about half an hour before high water.

The Price of Goods, Cattle, and Paſſengers, going over at Auſt and New Paſſages.
